

Kahnawa:ke Waste Management Department

Committing to our planet's future means properly recycling our electronics. That's why EPRA, an industry-led non for profit organization, works to keep over 15 million devices out of landfills across the country every year.

EPRA also:

- Prevents old electronics from being illegally exported or handled by irresponsible recyclers.
- Help recover valuable resources that can be put back into the manufacturing supply chain.

Not throwing away old electronics is a great move; taking part and brining them to an EPRA authorized drop-off point is even better.
